Quick Accessibility Tips: iClicker Quizzes

Common barriers for iClicker quizzes:

- Time limit
- Classroom distractions
- The iClicker device may not be accessible for all students

Questions to consider when deciding the best way to create access for students:

- Has the student communicated wanting to use accommodations on the iClicker quizzes?
- How often do you use the iClicker for quizzes?
- What is the purpose of the iClicker quiz? For example, is it used for attendance only or graded.
- When are the iClicker quizzes given in class?

Once the details of the iClicker quizzes are clarified, a solution to accommodate the student can be planned.

Potential Solutions Previously Used by Professors:

- If time the limit is the only barrier, you can monitor and wait until all students have completed the question before moving on.
- You can provide the student a paper copy to take with you before or after class. Alternatively, you can provide SAS testing a paper copy for the student to take before or after class at the SAS office.
- You can consider using a traditional quiz in class.
